A world of wonderful art

Art movements

Dancing around the world

Dear students,

Your first lesson this week is about art, not any art but „wonderful art“. It's about three imaginative and creative people and their unusual and wonderful works of art.

Let's start! Go to the page 46 in your books and read about Ben Wilson, John Dahlsen and Saimir Strati. It would be very useful if you use your CD, too, and listen to the text before checking new words.

Then read the questions ( exercise 2, page 47) and try to answer them (you don't have to write!). Also do the exercises 3, 4 and 5, page 47.

Your special task is to search the Internet to find out what material artists use for each art form and to complete the spidergram with the information you found. Write this spidergram in your notebooks!

The next lesson for this week talks about art movements. It's on the page 54 in your books. Here you can read about two of them: Cubism and Expressionism. Listen to the texts on your CDs, read them, check new words and do the exercise 3, page 54.

Fill in the table in your notebooks, adding the information about two more art movements: Surrealism and Impressionism (use the Internet, you „screenagers“😊).

For the end of the week we're having some fun – dancing. There are two texts on the page 53 in your books talking about Morris dancing from England and El Jarabe Tapatio from Mexico. Listen, read, check new words, answer the questions (exercise 3), but don't write them.

Think about some traditional dances of our country. Fill in the table with the information from the texts and add facts about your favourite traditional dance. Then write a short text about it following the notes. (in your notebooks)

All these tasks will be checked at school. Please, help each other to do these tasks using your gadgets. Good luck and see you soon, I hope! 😊
